Talking Rock Resort And Quaaout Lodge
PO Box 1215 V0E 1M0 Chase BC

A Link to Natural Beauty, Talking Rock Golf Resort and Quaaout Lodge, located on the shores of Little Shuswap Lake offers an experience rich in native traditions. Now boasting a championship 18 hole course, Talking Rock golf will take each and every player on an epic golfing adventure through rugged, mountainous terrain on a sprawling 325-acre site entirely owned by the Little Shuswap Indian Band.

Located midway between Vancouver and Calgary, Talking Rock Golf Resort and Quaaout Lodge is just minutes off the Trans Canada Highway. The peaceful location of the resort makes it a distinct destination for travelers wishing to enjoy all the amenities of a full service resort without all the commotion found in the city.

The 18 hole championship Talking Rock golf course opened on August 1st of 2007 and is destined to become a golfer's paradise. We're working hard to make Talking Rock Golf Resort the #1 course in the interior, says Little Shuswap Indian Band Chief Felix Arnouse. The name "Talking Rock" was selected by the Band in recognition of their ancestors who often recorded historic events and legends by painting or carving on large rocks, known as pictographs. Little alteration of the lands was required thus creating a course of natural and rugged character that requires strategy and thought for players of all skills and abilities.

Talking Rock Golf Course offers full practice facilities including a 16-acre driving range academy, two practice tees, practice greens and bunkers as well as lesson packages. A fully stocked snack kiosk and beverage cart ensures no golfer will be left undernourished. Talking Rock Golf Course has four sets of tees allowing all levels of skills and abilities an enjoyable experience. Of the most appreciated attributes of the course is an opportunity to cool down after your round with a dip in the pristine and refreshing Little Shuswap Lake. White sandy beaches and a full service resort lodge ensure that each experience is nothing but complete.
